Summer Reading and Math

MATH- Please review the addition and subtraction facts up to 18. You can make or buy flashcards to review these facts for five to ten minutes daily. There will be timed tests on these facts the first few weeks of school. No more relying on fingers to get an answer in third grade. There are many educational sites to help with practice, such as www.alusmath.com or www.sheppardsoftware.com, and to make reviewing fun.

READING-Read two chapter books this summer. One must be The Trouble with Chickens by Doreen Cronin. Your child should be familiar with the characters, setting, and plot of the story. You may read this together or have your child read it aloud to you over the summer. We will do an in-class project on this book in September. The second book, is any book your child will enjoy reading. Reading 15-20 minutes a day is a great way to increase your child's reading skills over the summer.
